Artists Nancy Crow and Nathaniel Stitzlein and tour leader Vivian Harvey have organized a thirteen-day tour of southern Mexico that will focus on its unique arts, crafts, archeology, and spectacular religious ceremonies. This tour is open to anyone who wants to get away for a sunny exploration of wonderful artifacts in their natural setting.

This is the best of indigenous Mexico!
And we will be a part of it all!

Centuries ago the indigenous people of Mexico created a unique and magnificent culture, one which endures to the present day. Nowhere is this more visible than in the incomparable color and excitement of Mexican fiestas and religious observances.

We'll start off with a visit to Oaxaca, to the creators of the incomparable folk art of Mexico, where we'll spend five nights in this delightful small Mexican city. Here we'll visit many of the homes of the most famous artisans in Oaxaca, where we'll have demonstrations and discussions about the pottery, wood, and wool art they create, while we become familiar with the delicious foods and colorful ambiance of colonial Mexico.

This trip has been planned to allow us to observe Carnival in the state of Chiapas. Our hotel will be in the small city of San Cristobal de las Casas, but much of our time will be in the villages which dot the steep mountainsides of the area. The villages of Tenejapa and San Juan Chamula, the most indigenous villages in Chiapas, hold spectacular Pre-lentan observances, which have their origins in both Prehispanic and Christian religious celebrations. These fiestas will be the highlight of our trip, and will be a wonderful culmination of our Mexican travel program.

Finally, we'll visit the magnificent archeological site of Palenque, long hidden in the rain forests of lowland Chiapas, where we can study the Prehispanic Maya in a lovely hotel not far from the entire site and new archeological museum. And we'll end our visit with one day in Villahermosa, in the state of Tabasco.

Flight Information

All participants are responsible for making their own flight travel plans. We have made special arrangements with eXito, a company which specializes in offering low-cost airfare to Latin America. Full information will be sent to you at the time of registration.

We are not arranging for a group flight since people are coming from all over the United States/Canada/other countries and many use frequent flyer miles. There are easy and inexpensive taxis to the hotel in Oaxaca City, and we will make arrangements to accommodate various travel schedules.

It is not necessary to use eXito if you have a favorite travel agent or frequent flyer miles or want to make your arrangements on line, so please use a travel plan which fits best with your schedule and budget.

Please wait to make flight arrangements until the trip is confirmed.

Travel insurance is available from eXito or any travel agent.

No special visas are required, but a valid passport is necessary.

Participants should take the least expensive and easiest flights.
